

Diary of Speen School's Forest School

We held our first ever forest school session at Speen School on Tuesday 6th February. A great time was had getting used to putting on extra warm clothing, waterproof trousers and wellies - it took a while but realising that meant we could get really muddy made it so worthwhile!

The first session was taken up with deciding on our Forest School Golden rules – now on display around school - and exploring the Forest school site here within our grounds.....using some fun games to help us.

We played more games in week 2 and discussed how animals and birds adapt and survive the winter (we found a muntjac's bed by the hedge). We thought we might be able to help a wood mouse by building him a shelter as depicted in the photo below. A watchful eye will be kept on the shelters to see if we have any guests!

I think this thumbs up accurately summarised how the children felt about our first 2 sessions of Forest School!

More news to follow next week...
